to the extent that, the poet argues that whenever there is selfishness, corruption, exploitation and oppression there will be no development

(b) The persona is Unhappy, he is complaining about the behaviour of some Leaders who are Corrupt, selfish and Irresponsible

(c) There are two stanzas in the poem.

(d) Two possible themes

(i) Corruption, - The persona has revelead this in stanza one verse five

" are Corrupt!"

(ii) Classes in the society - it has been shown that the classes of Minority are selfish and corrupt and they are the ones entrusted in power as The poet says in stanza two;

"I plead the stomachs of the privileged few Greater than the rift valley"

Other themes Might be,

(iii) Selfishness

(iv) Exploitation

(i) Corruption is still taking part of the development strategies since Most of the leaders are corrupt.. and they still conduct immoral actions where one gains his favour by giving bribes in terms of sex or material.

(ii) classes is present to the society for the Minority rules over Majority by exploiting them and undermine Their rights towards the development they are supposed to get.

(f) The persona in this poem is a normal citizen or the one who is exploited and undermined by ruling class

(g) This is an Open form of a poem since the poem length varies systematically in the length of the verse and in number of verses and stanza.
